Certified Leadership Consultant (CLC)

The Certified Leadership Consultant course helps you to improve your leadership practice and the support you can give to other leaders. The course can be tailored to suit the needs of different organizations and incorporated into customized program, giving you the benefits of an accredited qualification with bespoke leadership development. It will guide you through structured enquiry into complex leadership questions and is especially relevant if you are aiming to become internal or external consultants.

Consultants that specialize in the development of leadership skills and strategies are often called in when a company appears to have reached an impasse in the growth of the business. The consultant spends time looking at each level of function within the business and how those functions relate to one another. At the same time, the consultant will evaluate the current management or leadership style displayed at various levels within the organization. Based on the results of this evaluation, the consultant develops a course of action for enhancing the leadership of managers, department heads, and supervisors so the company can continue to grow.
